

'Ireland's Medium' brings tour to Letterkenny

IRELAND'S foremost spiritualist medium, Tom Colton, is bringing his 'Feel the Spirit Tour' to Donegal as part of the first national tour ever by an Irish medium.

Well known for his national TV and radio appearances, Tom recently kicked off the tour with successful events in Kerry, Cork and Galway, where he demonstrated his abilities in front of hundreds of people.

As a spiritualist medium Tom Colton is able to connect with the spirits of the bereaved and is the only known medium to allow those he reads to feel the energy of their loved ones in the same way he does. He believes that everyone has the ability to connect and communicate with spirit in the way he does.

"They just have to learn how, there is no special gift" he says. "It is literally an ability everybody has."

Tom has communicated and interacted with spirits since he was a child. Though it was not until his uncle, Richard, died in 2001, that he started reconnecting with spirit world as an adult.

During the past eight years Tom has developed his skills as medium studying at the world renowned Arthur Findlay College in Stansted, near London, the world's foremost college for the advancement of spiritualism and psychic sciences. He has also completed many courses at the National Federation of Spiritualist Healers (a charitable trust now called the Healing Trust).

Thought provoking, gripping, and often astounding, Tom brings comfort to those he reads for and his genuine approach has won him many friends.

"It is great to be back in Donegal, I always enjoy myself here and get a great reaction from people that I read for. The demonstrations we have done so far have gone down really well so I'm looking forward to this week's event," he added.

Participants are requested to bring a photograph of a bereaved loved one they would like to Tom to connect with, but there must be no writing on photo and only the person they are looking to connect with must be in the picture.

Tom Colton can be caught at the Clanree Hotel, Letterkenny on October 23rd. All tickets are only €20 with an 8pm start. He is currently booked up for one-to-ones for six months in advance (until April 2010) but as part of his tour he is undertaking a limited amount of one-to-one readings on the day and following morning. For further details please see www.tomcolton.com or call 086 0234164.
