

Medium at large on Halloween

TOM Colton, Ireland's foremost spiritualist medium, is bringing his 'Feel the Spirit Tour' back to Dublin over the next few weeks.

October culminates in a special charity Halloween Ball that Tom is doing for free in aid of Our Lady's Hospital for Sick Children, Crumlin.

It will take place on Saturday, October 31, at the Red Cow Hotel, Dublin.

Our Lady's was chosen as Tom's official charity after his daughter Katie was admitted to the hospital with meningitis in 2007 on Halloween. With the help of the staff there she has made a full recovery and this ball is Tom's way of saying thank you to the hospital. He has also had collection boxes at all his events.

Tom said: "Crumlin Children's Hospital has had a close place in my heart ever since my daughter Katie was rushed there with meningitis on October 31, 2007.

"Thankfully, because of the quick reaction and hard work of the medical staff at the hospital, Katie made a full recovery after spending time in intensive care and a week in hospital.

"This charity ball is a way of saying thank you to the hospital. The ball will be full fancy dress, no exceptions even for me!"

Thought provoking, gripping, and often astounding, Tom brings comfort to those he reads for and his genuine approach has won him many friends.

He is well known for his national TV and radio appearances and recently kicked off a tour with successful events where he demonstrated his abilities in front of hundreds of people.

Tom's tour includes a total of 50 dates throughout the country.

All tickets for the Halloween Ball are €50 and are available from the Red Cow Hotel.

All proceeds go to the Children's Hospital Crumlin. For further details, visit www.tom-colton.com or phone 086-0234164.
